A Word From the Editor . . .

The majority of you will be coming to Carolina to learn; you are eager to study, to fit yourselves for something, however far off in the haze of unmentioned dreams that may be. After a few months some of you will find that your finer conceptions have been hardened and caused a dimming of your ideal, a dropping of standard; you will find that the idea of many of your fellow students is to get by with as little work as possible, both in and out of the classroom. A university, however fine and noble it may be, is made up of all kinds of people, some of whom are not always a credit to their alma mater. Don't forget that it is as important to recognize the bad as the good.

VERMONT ROYSTER
Editor

Keep the courage of your convictions, remembering to put first things first with no delusions as to the relative value of things. Don't let the crowd persuade you that college isn't a serious business and that your ideals are all wrong. Ridicule is a dangerous weapon and we all find it hard to face, yet strangely enough those who cry loudest "Conform!" are the first to recognize the strength of those who refuse to compromise their consciences.

Don't try to adapt yourself to Carolina too quickly. You'll find many things here that will be new to you, and it's so easy to be carried away by the first rush of enthusiasm for your new life and then find later that you have lost sight of your real purpose for coming here. Don't neglect your studies—you'll find that knowledge is about the only thing you can have as much of as you are willing to haul away; but don't forget the other things Carolina has to offer. Work in dramatics, on the publications, in athletics, and the other phases of extra-curricular life can give you something you can never find in the classroom.

Don't be afraid to be ignorant. Your teachers, the "Y" staff, upper-classmen are ready to help you, and you'll save yourself time and disappointment by profiting from the other fellow's experience.

This is Your University . . .

You have chosen a university that has behind it one hundred and forty years of tradition. It is a tradition which has been born and nourished through generations by those who have come to the Hill seeking something to enrich their lives, and perchance in the seeking have left something of it, and left it richer and full of greater meaning. It is the spirit of these men which the University cherishes.

The University is here for each of you as an individual. Its great library, its laboratories, its teachers and its beautiful campus are yours to use as companions on your journey. The University wants you to grow in health and in strength of mind and body. It offers you an appreciation of literature and music, understanding of science and philosophy, acquaintance with history and the varied world of today. Yet it seeks the best not alone in mental and physical development, but in the social as well. So it calls you to take an active part in the government of the campus, and success or failure is measured inasmuch as its code of honor and responsibility becomes a part of you.

their own spirit to add to the imperishable wealth of truth. Some of those who came here found nothing and took nothing, they were merely visitors for a day. It is not they that have made Carolina, but rather those who have come here to dip for a few years into the wisdom and knowledge which their present had garnered from the past, preserved

Letter From A '34 Senior To His Younger Brother . . .

Dear Bob,

As you're going up to the Hill next week I may not get a chance to see you before you go. There's nothing much I can tell you about the place itself that you don't know already. But there are a couple of things I'd like to say, and I know you'll understand why I'm saying them.

When you get up there take things easy. Don't try to become the shining light of the campus in the first week. It's a funny thing but the boys that make so much noise at the beginning seldom turn out to be much. It's the fellows who take the time to find out what it's all about who manage to get somewhere in the end. Start out by making friends with the bunch in your dorm and boarding house, and particularly with the other freshmen as they are the ones you've got to associate with for the next few years. You're going to meet all kinds of fellows. Be friends with them all (you'll find the Hill about the friendliest place you've ever been), but when it comes down to picking the crowd you're going to run with go slow and be sure they're the kind of fellows you want for your real friends.

I know you want to try out for the football team, but if you don't make it don't be discouraged. Take a crack at some other things too. Try out for the Tar Heel, join the debating societies and other things until you find out what you're really interested in. But don't let these things interfere with your studies; especially be careful at first. It's awfully important to get off on the right foot with your proffs. Don't "cut" your classes; it creates a bad impression. Don't think your teachers aren't human and aren't susceptible to first appearances. If you start having trouble with your work, go to see your proff. He'll be glad to help. You'll find your friendship with your teachers will do more to educate you than your work in the classroom. Just don't try to "bootlick". Be sincere in your friendship.

About frats. I know Dad's going to want you to go Delta Mu, but if you pledge at all remember that the most important thing is to get in with a bunch you like. Go to all the houses at which you receive invitations, but only when invited. Don't pledge before pledge day and then consider every factor before choosing, because it's something that will affect your whole college career.

Be sure to write home regularly. It'll mean so much to Mother to hear from you and be able to keep up with what you're doing. She'll also like it a lot if you'll go to church, and you'll get some new slants on things from the preachers up there.

There's not much else I can say. For the rest, you'll have to use your own judgment. You're on your own now, without either Dad or I to help, and here's your first chance to show how much of a man you are. I know you've got the stuff and are going to make Carolina the most important part of your life.

Just,
JACK.

Tips To New Men . . .

What To Bring

Each dormitory and most of the rooming houses equip rooms with a bed, mattress, and desk for each occupant. Bed clothing, lamps, pennants, pictures, and other decorations are individually furnished. Your traveling bag should contain enough bed linen, towels, and clothes for several days, as your trunk may be delayed.

Arriving

Freshman week begins at two o'clock in the afternoon of September 17. It will be worth your while to arrive a day or so earlier to acquaint yourself with the campus. Chapel Hill may be reached most conveniently by motor or bus. Road maps will show the paved roads leading to the Hill, and should you come by train, make Durham your immediate destination, taking the bus from there to the Hill. Be sure to have your luggage checked by a reliable firm and arrange for its immediate delivery. Take the name and address of the man who checks it.

Arrival

Go immediately to the Buildings Department at the foot of the large smokestack and get the key to your dormitory room. If you don't have a room reserved go to South Building where one will be assigned to you. It will be best to have your physical examination in Bynum gymnasium as soon as possible. Keep your orientation card with you and follow each step outlined. Also keep the Handbook convenient for constant reference to map and instruction.

For your own convenience do not sign up with any eating place, but try several before deciding on a permanent one. Conveniently located are Swain hall, the student commons, and numerous cafes and boarding houses.

Freshman Week

Freshman orientation week begins with a meeting of the entire freshman class in Memorial hall at two o'clock, Monday, September 17. This is the beginning of a week of events prepared to aid you in adjusting yourselves to Carolina. The program includes mental and physical measurements, special talks, tours, and social gatherings, with registration for courses on Wednesday, September 19. All freshmen are required to attend every meeting on their program and meet all appointments made for them.

Some general hints and information

Athletics are an important part of every college man's life. Try out for at least one freshman team, but don't be discouraged if you fail to make the first team. If you find later that you don't have time for regular athletics join with your intramural teams. Expenses may be kept down as low as $450, but only by dint of careful budgeting. If you find it necessary to have additional financial help, the Y. M. C. A. maintains a self-help bureau which will furnish you with part-time occupation. Nearly one-half of the Carolina students are wholly or partly self-supporting. Hazing at Chapel Hill is practically unknown. Be respectful to upperclassmen and by no means attempt to be fresh. Should any fellows attempt to have harmless fun with you, such as making speeches or singing, take it like the good sport every Carolina man is, and you will soon be accepted as an all around fellow. Writing home will not only please your parents but will serve as a sort of journal of your life here which you can read later with a great deal of pleasure. Mail comes into the Hill three times daily and is delivered through town twice. Attendance on class is required. No reason but illness should keep you from your classes. Keep up with your work day by day. "Cramming" gets you nowhere and makes exam periods harassing experiences. Illness must be treated by the University physician to affect an excused absence. Go to the Infirmary when ill and let the physician treat you. Textbooks can be bought at the Book Exchange. The library (it contains over 250,000 volumes) will take care of your outside needs. Become acquainted with it and use it frequently; a whole education can be obtained there alone, and the friends you find along its shelves will remain with you the rest of your lives. Quizzes are given according to the professors' whims, another reason for regular attendance. Missed quizzes are black marks on your grade. Exams are given at the end of each quarter and must be taken. Y. M. C. A. work is an important part of the University's activities. Become a member and attend the regular meetings. This organization is interested in each individual and is always ready to serve you when you need help or advice. Participation in activities is desired of all men, old and new. Remember that the contacts you make this way are really the most important part of your University life.

Carolina's Student Government . . .

Student government at Carolina has no written constitution. It is interpreted by the Student Council to the best of their ability to meet the demands and interests of the new student body. The two systems upon which student government is based and by which the Student Council shapes its actions are the Honor System and the Campus Code.

VIRGIL WEATHERS
President of Student Body

There is no espionage or monitorship on the Carolina campus, the honor system replacing these systems by confidence in student honor. The theory is that, since there is no police system or espionage, students will act spontaneously and fairly upon any breaches of honor and will submit any such offenses before their representative tribunal—the Student Council.

The Honor System must not be confused or misinterpreted, however, as to deal with breaches of conduct, for it is concerned with breaches of honor alone—with offenses of lying, cheating, and stealing. To mistake the meaning of the Honor System is to destroy it.

Nowhere does individual responsibility play so important a part as in instances where honor is involved on the campus; it is an obvious fact that there will always be a certain percentage of students who will fail to realize their responsibility and who abuse the privilege granted to them. But those who are unable to live up to the standards and level demanded by the Honor System will eventually fall from their positions of respect on the campus or in life, for the Honor System is the guiding principle in both the life at the University and after graduation.

Responsibility is the involved element in the Campus Code, which replaces any fixed rules or laws of conduct by the requirement that as Carolina students we conduct ourselves as gentlemen. The student must interpret the code himself, for there is no honor attached but rather a personal obligation.

So here, as in the Honor System, individual responsibility is an integral factor; it is incumbent upon the student to conduct himself at all times in the manner of a gentleman, and it is furthermore his duty, insofar as it is appropriate, to note that his fellow-students do likewise.

The main purpose of the Student Council at Carolina is to investigate and try all reported breaches of the Campus Code and the Honor System, and to take any such action as these principles require to remedy and prevent such violations. Its decrees are designed to be corrective rather than retributory; its hearings are investigations rather than prosecutions.

The council is composed of ten members as follows: One elected from each of the three upper classes, one each from the professional schools—Law, Medicine, and Pharmacy—one representative from the preceding council, one from the school of engineering, and the president and vice-president of the student body.

The "Y" President Writes to You . . .

We are mighty glad to have you at Carolina, for we know that you will make your life here useful and happy.

We hope, too, that you will let us become a part of your life, for we know that you, like us, believe in the all round development of body, spirit, and mind. Whatever your interest you will find the Young Men's Christian Association a place to foster it. If you do not actively come with us, we hope that, at least, you will allow us to serve you. Anyway, we are looking forward to meeting you during the first few days of school.

Sincerely,

J. D. WINSLOW,

President of the Y. M. C. A.

J. D. WINSLOW
President of "Y"

development and are leading their fellow schoolmates into similar achievements.

The aim of the University Y. M. C. A. is to serve you. Through the work of its cabinets, the "Y" provides for community and campus welfare and service, emphasizes educational growth along moral and spiritual lines, and presents an organization for the development of friendship and leadership.

Y. M. C. A. BUILDING

Organization

The University Y. M. C. A. is the third oldest student Y. M. C. A. in the United States, being organized in 1860, only three years after the founding of student organizations at the Universities of Michigan and Virginia.

Every student at Carolina is eligible for membership in the Y. M. C. A. All students vote in elections for officers of the association and become members of cabinets by attending meetings regularly.

To really get the fullest value out of the "Y", you should take an active interest in the work of the cabinets. These "Y" groups are composed of real fellows who are taking advantage of the opportunities the "Y" offers for service, happy fellowship, moral education, and the development of character and leadership.

Cabinets

The Y. M. C. A. program is carried out through the junior-senior, sophomore, and freshman cabinets.

The Freshman Friendship council carries the program of the "Y" to the freshmen. Membership is formed around all former Hi-Y club members, but if you are interested you may join the freshman "Y" group whether or not you have participated in Hi-Y club work.

The Freshman Friendship council is fortunate in having as its advisor this year, Jack Pool, president of the senior class. Jack was head of the freshman cabinet during his first year at the University and has been active in the "Y" and other campus activities during the three years of his stay here at the University as a student.

For about three days before the University opens in September, the "Y" sponsors a freshman retreat for all former Hi-Y members to form the center of the Freshman Friendship council and to help acquaint first-year men with the University. If you are not a member of a Hi-Y club, you can attend the retreat by making application to the University "Y" office.

The sophomore cabinet is formed around all faithful members of the Freshman Friendship council, but other interested individuals are taken into membership. The group carries the work of the "Y" to the sophomores.

The junior-senior cabinet, composed of third and fourth-year men, controls the policies of the "Y". Its officers are elected by campus ballot in the spring.

Building

The present "Y" building is inadequate for the work of the organization, having been built almost 30 years ago; however, several improvements have been made this summer on the edifice.

The "Y" building is located in the center of the campus and is the meeting place of students in the morning hours, especially during the 10:30 to 11:00 o'clock hour. The building houses the central Y. M. C. A. offices, including the self-help department, the Book Exchange, the Bull's head book store, and has a lounge and numerous conference rooms. Study desks are provided for your use on the second floor.

Program

In carrying out the policy of serving the campus, probably the most outstanding duty of the Y. M. C. A. is the work of the self-help bureau, which is an agency for placing as many students as possible in profitable employment. Last year the department provided steady work for over 435 self-help students and supervised the distribution of the $14,000.00 national FERA grant to the University which provided jobs for 241 students.

If you are in need of work to help pay your expenses at the University drop in Ed Lanier's office on the second floor of the "Y" building as soon as possible after your arrival at Chapel Hill and make application for a job. Not all students are awarded positions.

This spring the third quadrennial institute on Human Relations will be held at the University through the sponsorship of the University Y. M. C. A. For about a week practically all classes will be taken over by visiting institute speakers, and problems of human relations in political, governmental, economic, and class affairs will be discussed. Simmons Patterson is chairman of the Human Relations institute.

Besides the Human Relations Institute program, the Y. M. C. A. at intervals throughout the year brings speakers of national and state prominence to the University campus to deliver lectures and conduct forums and discussion groups. Although some of these speakers are presented at the regular cabinet meetings, all the features are open for you to attend.

Carrying the "Y" program to people of the state, the association sponsors a number of deputation trips each year to North Carolina towns and cities. These deputation teams are composed of outstanding university students who spend week-ends in neighboring cities and put on programs and entertainments at schools, hospitals, and boys' organizations. Jack Pool, president of the senior class, has been in charge of deputations for the past two years and will be chairman again this year.

The "Y" carries on welfare work among the needy, and annually conducts a charity football game, the contributions from which go to pay the salary of a trained nurse to work among the local Negroes. Members of the organization advise and work with Hi-Y clubs and Boy Scouts of the community. Senior cabinet members will aid you during freshman week to help you get adjusted to University life. The Y. M. C. A. conducts daily devotional services during the Lenten season and coöperates with local churches in presenting special student Church services. Keeping regular offices hours, the employed Y. M. C. A. officials maintain an information bureau at the "Y", act as hosts to visiting groups, and give students guidance and advice.

A list of Y. M. C. A. committees for carrying out the wide program of the "Y", together with the chairmen of each group, is as follows:

Devotional, J. C. Grier; Church relations, Billy Yandell; public occasions, Raymond Barron; conferences, W. T. Bost; freshman work, Jack Pool; social, Jesse Parker; international relations, Albert Ellis; social service, Harry E. Riggs; vocational guidance, Lonnie Dill; finance, B. S. Smith; faculty-student relationships, Phil Hammer; honor system, Francis Fairley; publicity, Phil Hammer; boys' work, Paul McKee; speakers, Ralph Burgin; deputations, Jack Pool; music, Claude Freeman.

Finances

Although the University appropriates 54% of the annual "Y" budget of $9,000, approximately one half of the operating expenses of the Y. M. C. A. is raised each year by voluntary contributions from faculty and students.

Upon registering in the fall, each student is given an opportunity to make a voluntary contribution towards the carrying out of the "Y" program on the campus. The contributions range from two dollars to five or ten dollars and are collected by the University treasurer along with the other fees. The money goes to carry on worthwhile work on the campus. Everyone who pays as much as two dollars will be given a membership card which is useful for identification in traveling through cities, for it entitles you to visitors' privileges in city Y. M. C. A.'s.

Employed Staff

The Y. M. C. A. employs three trained secretaries for student use who keep regular office hours in the "Y" building: Harry F. Comer, general secretary; Edwin S. Lanier, self-help secretary; and Miss Helen Hodges, office secretary.

Mr. Comer is the man you find sitting behind the desk in the "Y" office waiting to have a talk with you. He is a swell fellow—one of the best men on the campus to have a "bull-session" with. Not only does he act as adviser to the Y. M. C. A. cabinets, but also as a councilor and friend of every student on the campus. Having been in "Y" work for 22 years and in the service of the University Y. M. C. A. for the past 13 years, our general secretary is thoroughly acquainted with student life and problems. His contagious personality has won the confidence of people in the University who have sought his help in matters of their interest. One of the joys of students in the "Y" is the hot dog roasts and feeds Comer gives at his home.

ED LANIER
Self-Help Secretary

Ed Lanier is self-help secretary. He spends all the day in the self-help bureau helping place needy students in profitable work and helping individuals work their way through college. Ed, having gone through the University as a student, knows and is interested in student life and welfare and is ready to help you at all times.

Miss Hodges is office secretary. When you can't find a friend, or a telephone number, or your raincoat, or if you're lonely, consult her.

The Churches Welcome You . . .

The churches of Chapel Hill which beautifully cluster around the campus cordially welcome you to take part in their services, Sunday Schools, young peoples' organizations, and all their religious and social activities. These churches are here to help you to keep clean, to grow morally and spiritually stronger in your personal life, and to develop a sense of human brotherhood on the campus, in the state, and in the world.

FRANK P. GRAHAM.

University Methodist Church

Rev. Albea Godbold preaches his 11:00 o'clock Sunday morning Church service directly for students, and individuals from the University take part in the exercises.

The Wesley Student association which meets every Sunday night at 7:00 o'clock is a student forum organization and controls student affairs in the church. Robert Phillips Russell is president.

The Wesley Student association is in charge of the three special 10:00 o'clock Sunday morning Sunday School classes for individuals in the University. Students have the choice of studying the International Sunday School lessons or entering classes to study specific problems of interest for one quarter.

A varied program of entertainments is carried out for students in the Methodist Church. Two entertainments are usually sponsored each quarter, and a hot dog roast is held early in the fall for you.

The pastor is anxious to become acquainted with you and may be found during the morning hours from 9:00 to 1:00 o'clock in his office in the Church.

Chapel Hill Baptist Church

Rev. O. T. Binkley in his 11:00 o'clock Sunday morning services tries to give a liberal interpretation of the Christian religion to life and its needs.

There are two Sunday School classes for students which meet at 10:00 o'clock Sunday mornings. One class is taught by Professor A. C. Howell of the University English department.

The Baptist Young Peoples' Union, a discussion group, is composed only of University students and meets every Sunday night at 7:00 o'clock. Student work in the Church is controlled by the Baptist Union which meets every Thursday.

The Baptist and Methodist Churches will jointly sponsor a series of programs this year to be held at 8:00 o'clock every Sunday night for students. Visiting speakers will be featured on these programs, and one subject will be fully discussed each quarter. During the fall period, these public gatherings will be held in the Baptist Church.

Rev. Binkley's office hours are from 10:00 to 12:00 o'clock every morning except Saturday.

The Chapel of the Cross

(EPISCOPAL)

The Episcopal Parish house is always open to students for study, reading, and meetings. The Church has a well equipped lounge with magazines, numerous conference rooms, and students are always welcome.

The Sunday morning exercises open with Holy Communion services at 8:00 o'clock, and a service and sermon follow at 11:00 o'clock by Rev. A. S. Lawrence.

Specially for individuals in the University is the Student Forum which meets every Sunday night at 7:00 o'clock. A prayer service and organ music are presented one hour later.

During the fall quarter the Church will sponsor a number of teas, offering opportunities for students to get acquainted with one another and with people of Chapel Hill.

The pastor is in his office during the morning hours and at other times by appointment.

United Church

Reverend Cleveland R. Dierlamm extends a cordial invitation to all students to attend the various Church services offered by the United Church.

The United Church is composed of the Congregationalists and Chapel Hill Christian Church which joined together in 1929.

The 11:00 o'clock Sunday hour of worship presents an opportunity to worship in a liberal environment. Associate membership is offered to students in the church which in no way conflicts with affiliations at home.

Sunday school meets every Sunday morning at 10:00 o'clock, and both women's and men's Bible classes are conducted.

Presbyterian Church

Coming this year to succeed W. M. Cooper, supply pastor for the past year, Rev. Donald Stewart will take over the work as pastor of the Presbyterian Church. Rev. Cooper will continue to serve in the capacity of assistant.

A student forum is held every Sunday night in the social rooms of the Church for students and is headed by Lawrence H. Fountain, president.

Professor George R. McKie of the English department has been teaching the student Bible class, which meets every Sunday morning at 10:00 o'clock. Church services are held at 11:00 o'clock.

As a part of the freshman orientation program, all the churches in Chapel Hill observe freshman night on the first Friday evening of the first week of the fall quarter. Informal get-togethers are held in honor of the new men who have just arrived, and the gatherings provide opportunities for students to become acquainted with individuals in the church of their choice.

Graham Memorial . . . Students' Hangout

HARPER BARNES
Manager

Representing the fulfilment of a former University president's ambition for the campus, the Graham Memorial Student Union is the centralizing factor in all the University's activities not directly connected with the classroom. Graham Memorial is supported by student assessments, and is managed by a recent graduate appointed for a term of two years by a board of directors which is composed of nine students, two members of the Alumni Association, four faculty members, and the student body president is an ex officio member.

Although the construction work on the Memorial was begun in 1923, five years after the death of President Edward Kidder Graham, the wartime president to whom the Union is dedicated, the building was not completed until the spring of 1931. At this time since neither the alumni, who had donated the construction funds, nor the University administration were able to contribute to the upkeep and running expenses, the student body held a plebiscite and voted 806 to 74 in favor of a quarterly assessment of $1 with which the maintenance cost could be met. As a result, the Union is now firmly established on a sound financial footing.

The function of the Memorial is three fold: To knit together the extra-curricular life, to fill the gaps in the University's cultural program, and to act as your social center where at any time you may meet and enjoy the recreational opportunities which are offered there. In order to fulfil the first aim, the board of directors has set aside space for the offices of the four publications, the Athletic Association, and has assigned rooms to be used as meeting places by any group which desires the privilege. This action has given the extra-curricular activities an organization and unity which has doubled their usefulness and availability to the students.

As a cultural factor, the Union has successfully sponsored informal entertainments and programs which, since they were designed not to interfere with the sphere of any other organization, have had the effect of supplementing the efforts of these other groups and welding the whole into a definite unity.

But it is as a social center that the Student Union has been particularly effective. Make it your hangout during your stay here, for you will find it the center of life out of the classroom.

Publications Union Board

The Publications Union Board has financial control of all official publications at the University. The Board is composed of two faculty members, appointed by the President, and three student members, elected from the student body, one from the Senior class, one from the Junior class, and one from the campus at large. A blanket fee is charged for all student publications and is included in the registration fees. This fee is much lower than that charged at most colleges and entitles the student to receive the Daily Tar Heel, the Carolina Magazine, and the Yackety Yack. The Buccaneer, which was formerly included among the student publications, was officially abolished this summer.

Members of the chapter who were elected last spring, 1934, are: Lawrence Thompson, president; Joseph Sugarman, vice-president; John Alexander, Harper Barnes, John Barrett, Norman Blaine, Louise Carlton Capps, Elizabeth Durham, Virginia Harrison, Sanford Martin Langsam, Maurice Leon, Dallas Lynn, Marie Leake Parsons, Elizabeth Roney, Forney Rankin, Bernard Elias Singer, Erskine Smith, Bradford White, Samuel Wilkins, Franklin Abernethy, Eben Alexander, John Butler, Jack Crutchfield, Natore Dj Costanzo, Kalman Norman Diamond, Lonnie Dill, Mark Dunn, Ralph Gardner, Ezra Griffin, Jr., John Gunter, Henry Harris, Herbert Hazelman, Mack Heath, Jr., Walter King, Jr., J. MONOGRAM CLUB—Composed of men who have earned their University letter in one or more sports; any student receiving his "NC" automatically becomes a member. ## Debating Organizations

DEBATE COUNCIL—Debating policy is controlled by the Debating Council which is composed of four students, two elected from the campus at large and two appointed by the speakers of the literary societies, and three faculty members appointed by the President of the University. Freshmen are eligible for intercollegiate debating.

DEBATE CLUB—Group of students interested in debating who meet once a week in Graham Memorial to discuss and study questions of national and international interest. Several faculty members in attendance. Anyone may attend.

LITERARY SOCIETIES—The name is a misnomer as they are really debating societies. The Dialectic Senate and the Philanthropic Assembly were founded in 1795 to train their members in public speaking and the rules of parliamentary procedure. They meet every Tuesday night. Freshmen are eligible to join.

The University Club

Formed year before last by a group of students who thought that the traditional Carolina spirit had sunk to a new low, the University Club is an organization whose purpose is to keep alive the spirit and to offer a cordial welcome and program of entertainment to visiting athletic teams, a thing sadly lacking at the time of the club's formation.

During the football season last year the club made an effort to raise the dead spirit and did succeed in part in injecting some life into a campus numbed by repeated athletic losses. Answering a special request of the club, Kay Kyser, well known band leader and U. N. C. graduate, wrote two new Carolina songs which the club had printed and distributed. In connection with their work the club has a special part in the orientation program in the fall. Philip Hammer, president.

Athletic Association

Director

Athletics occupy an important part in the educational set-up at Carolina. The moving spirit behind all the athletic activities at the "Hill" is the Athletic Association, of which every student is a member by virtue of a small fee paid in tuition. Because of the membership every student is able to attend all home games of Carolina athletic teams free. The Athletic Council, which is a distinctly separate unit, is composed of athletic representatives from the alumni, the faculty, and student body. Three faculty members appointed by the president; three alumni elected from that group; three student members, the president of the student body, the president of the Athletic Association, and the monogram club, constitute the council. The graduate manager of athletics and the director of athletics are the other remaining officials.

The officers of the Association are elected at the regular spring elections of the student body. The officers for the year 1934-35 are: George Barclay, president, and Babe Daniels, vice-president. The executive council of the Athletic Association is composed of equal representation from students, faculty, and alumni. Student members consist of the president of the student body, president of the Athletic Association, and a delegate from the Monogram club. The graduate manager of athletics and director of athletics are the other two members.

Captains of each athletic team are selected by the monogram winners in that sport at the end of each regular season. The election of manager for any team is made by the Athletic Council. You, as freshmen, are eligible to try out for sub-assistant managerships in any sport. Each man trying out is assigned work one day with the varsity squad and another day with the freshmen. At the end of the playing season the director of athletics, the coach of the varsity sport, the varsity manager, and the graduate manager recommend to the Athletic Council six men to serve in the capacity of sub-assistant managers during the sophomore year. Two from this group will be recommended for the assistant managerships during the junior year. In the senior year one of these two will serve as varsity manager while the other will act as assistant or freshman manager.

Carolina had one of the most unsuccessful football seasons in the history of the University last year, winning four and losing five games. The poor season resulted in a complete change of coaches, Chuck Collins, exponent of the Notre Dame system, and his assistants, being replaced by a group under the direction of Carl Snavely, who uses a Warner style of coaching.

The Tar Heels opened their 1933 season with a last quarter 6-0 victory over Davidson, George Moore smashing the line for the only touchdown. On the following week-end Carolina lost a heart-breaker to Vanderbilt, 20-13. The losers played superior ball after the opening quarter in which Vandy scored two quick touchdowns. Carolina was handed bad defeats the following two games, losing to a great Georgia team 30-0 and going down before Florida, 9-0. In the Homecoming game the Tar Heels almost pulled an upset when Georgia Tech was only able to get a 10-6 victory. Neither team scored until the final quarter when Tech got a field goal and a touchdown in rapid succession. Led by the passing of Don Jackson, Carolina counted once and barely missed another touchdown during the last five minutes. Carolina hit its stride in the next two battles, downing State, 6-0, and Wake Forest 26-0. George Moore again pushed across the winning marker in the State game while the entire team featured in the Deacon tilt. Meeting Duke before some 30,000 fans the Tar Heels fought gamely but were no match for the great Blue Devil team, losing 21-0. George Barclay, playing guard for the losers with a lame leg, however, was clearly the outstanding man on the field as he made spectacular play after play. Carolina closed its season Thanksgiving Day with an impressive triumph over Virginia, 14-0, all the scoring coming in the final period. George Moore pushed over one touchdown on a buck and Barclay, playing defensive center, tallied the other when he dashed 40 yards after intercepting a pass. Probably the outstanding feature of the year was the play of Barclay, captain-elect. He made every all-Southern and all-state selection and was picked by some as an all-American.

Basketball

(STATE CHAMPIONS)

STUART "SNOOKS" AITKEN .....	Captain for 1935
WILLIAM MCKEE .....	Manager for 1935
G. E. "Bo" SHEPARD .....	Coach

With veterans at every position but one, at which was a really sensational sophomore, Carolina's 1934 basketball team breezed through an excellent season, gaining 17 victories out of 20 matches. The court outfit won the Big Five title, losing only one game in the race, but was upset in the semi-finals of the Southern Conference tournament.

Carolina opened the year with nine straight victories, downing Clemson, Davidson, Viscose, V. P. I., V. M. I., W. and L., Wake Forest, V. M. I. and Virginia. White Phantoms were then defeated for the first time in a slow game with State, 34-30. On a northern trip, Carolina took V. P. I., Virginia, and Maryland in a row, before bowing to Navy by a two-point margin. Returning home, the Tar Heels whipped Duke in the first of two thrilling battles, 25-21. The White Phantoms continued their Big Five play downing Wake Forest, State, Davidson, and in the state title tilt got a 30-25 victory over the Blue Devils. Carolina closed its season with a listless loss to South Carolina.

In the Southern Conference tournament Carolina drew Virginia for the first round and with Aitken, forward, leading the way, the state champions got an easy victory over the Cavaliers, 27-18; however, in the semi-finals, the White Phantoms took on the Blue Devils for the third time and lost 18-21.

Jim McCachren, the only sophomore regular, made the all-Southern selection and also received honorable mention for the all-American team.

Golf

JOHN KENFIELD ..... Coach
 LANE FULENWIDER ..... Captain for 1935

Led by Captain Erwin Laxton, the 1934 Tar Heel golf team turned in a fairly good season, winning seven meets, tying one, and losing three.

Tar Heels showed their best form in downing Duke twice, 11-7 and 10-8. Among other teams which fell before the Carolina linksmen were Navy, State, Furman, and Davidson, but Richmond got two and State one victory over Carolina. The lone tie was with Georgetown, 3-3.

In the Big Five tourney Carolina finished just one stroke behind the champion State outfit. Tar Heels were third in the Southern Conference tourney, trailing Duke and Washington and Lee.

QUINLAN, Coach

Wrestling

P. H. QUINLAN ..... Coach

Coach Quinlan met with one difficulty after another in getting a capable team together out of a small group of inexperienced boys. The outfit won only two of seven meets, but one of these triumphs was gotten with unexpected ease over Duke. State and V. P. I. took the Tar Heels in the opening meets and then came the win over the Blue Devils, 17-9. Carolina was victim to the strong W. and L. and V. M. I. teams the following two weeks, but then broke into the win column again at the expense of Davidson. The Tar Heels closed the year against Navy with a 29-3 loss.

Captain Mathewson was probably the outstanding grappler. Although suffering from injuries he managed to get three victories out of four starts.

Track

(CONFERENCE CHAMPIONS)

TOM HAWTHORNE AND CHARLIE HUBBARD ..... Captains
 R. A. FETZER ..... Coach
 M. DALE RANSON ..... Assistant Coach

The 1934 Tar Heel track team turned in one of the best of all Carolina seasons, sweeping through the southern indoor and outdoor meets and the state contest to become the first team in history to annex the three major crowns.

In the indoor carnival held in the Tin Can, the boys coached by "Coach Bob" Fetzer managed to eke through to a win over Virginia's powerful squad by a margin of 31.6 to 30.5. Co-captain Ed McRae set a new conference record for the mile on the hardwood course.

The outdoor team started off the season by losing a close meet to Dartmouth, 66-60. William and Mary fell before the "Flying Tar Heels" 73½-52½, and Georgetown University was turned back in an unofficial contest, 110-16. In Charlottesville the Carolina team swamped the Virginia trackmen, 78¾-47¼, and then defeated Duke 75⅔-49⅓. The strong Navy squad came South for the first time in history only to lose to the Heels 67-59 in one of the most exciting contests of the year. Carolina walked away with the state intercollegiate meet by tallying 85 points, more than the combined total of the others. In the conference affair Tar Heels more than doubled the score on the runner-up in counting 68 13/14 points.

The tracksters set 14 new records. Co-captain Ralston LeGore set the pace by chalking up four new marks in the javelin throw. He set a new record for the Penn Relays held at Franklin field in Philadelphia with his toss of 214 feet 8⅞ inches. He also holds the conference, state and University records. The other record holders are: Charlie Hubbard, broad jump for both University and state; Frank Abernethy, high hurdles for both University and state; Harry Williamson, half-mile for both University and state; Tom Hawthorne, low hurdles for University; "Red" Drake, quarter-mile for University; Odell Childers, 220-yard dash for state; and McRae in the indoor mile.

Fencing

During the winter quarter a group of Carolina students gathered to revive fencing at the University. Receiving no appropriations from the athletic association for the sport, interested students conducted the meets themselves.

Tar Heel swordsmen took part into two meets, winning one and losing one. They opened the season against the strong V. M. I. team and were defeated 11-6 in an excellent encounter. In the second battle, Carolina came out on top over William and Mary, 10-7. John Elmendorf, although only a freshman, starred for the University fencers being undefeated for the season and scoring four points in each of the encounters.

Baseball

(CONFERENCE CHAMPIONS)

BUNN HEARN .....	Coach
THURMAN VICK .....	Captain for 1935
W. B. RODMAN .....	Manager for 1935

Carolina's 1935 baseball team was one of the greatest in the nation and probably the best in the history of the University. The Tar Heel nine won the Southern Conference and Big Five championships for the second year in succession and got 20 victories out of 21 matches. The nine also took the first 18 tilts of the season, and this streak, added to a fine 1933 finish, gave Carolina a record of 28 straight wins.

The only loss of the season came in the three-game series with Duke. However, the Tar Heels stopped a Duke winning streak at 14 in the first tilt of the series by a 4-3 score, and won the final game of the series, 7-4. Besides the victories over Duke, Carolina downed Virginia three times; State, Wake Forest, Davidson, W. and L., V. P. I., and V. M. I., all twice; and Randolph-Macon, Guilford, and Navy, each once.

Nate Andrews, Fred Crouch, and Ernest McKeithan all turned in great pitching records. Crouch chalked up the most victories, ten, and was credited with the only defeat; Andrews, who was not eligible to play until the last three weeks, got five wins, taking both triumphs over Duke; and McKeithan tallied four victories, besides a five-hit win over the Wilmington professional team. The entire club hit .350 during the season and played great ball on the defense. George Brandt captained the team.

Tennis

JOHN F. KENFIELD .....	Coach
WALTER LEVITAN .....	Captain for 1935

Although their winning streak of four years was stopped by Princeton after 74 straight wins, Carolina's 1934 tennis team again turned in an excellent season, gaining 17 victories out of 18 meets. The Carolina netters took triumphs over its early season opponents with ease and started on the annual northern trip with 72 consecutive victories behind them.

The netmen opened the trip with a 6-3 win over Navy and in the second meet downed Johns Hopkins in a close 5-4 battle. Then the Tar Heels met the great Princeton team and were severely set back 9-0. From the Princeton meet until the end of the season Carolina racquetceers had things their own way, Army, Yale, and Amherst being among the victims. Probably the outstanding dual victory of the year was 5-4 over Duke, ruining a perfect Blue Devil record.

Carolina made little progress in either the Big Five or Southern Conference tourneys to decide individual singles and doubles champions. Harvey Harris reached the semi-final round of the state singles tourney and the doubles combination of Harris and Rickey Willis went to the semi-finals. Harris and Walter Levitan got to the semi-finals of the Conference doubles tourney.

Cross Country

HARRY WILLIAMSON ..... Captain for 1934-35
 DALE RANSON ..... Coach

With only average material available, Carolina put out a fairly strong cross country team, winning three out of four 1933 dual meets and finishing second in the Southern Conference run.

In their first two meets, Carolina harriers had a perfect win over State, 15-51, and a near-perfect victory over Florida, 16-47. Against Davidson the Tar Heels barely captured a 27-29 triumph, but then bowed to Duke, 32-36. The Blue Devils were also ahead of Carolina in the conference meet, 23-48. The Sullivan twins, Louis and Henry, captained the 1933 outfit.

Freshman Teams

All sports in which varsity teams participate are also represented by freshman teams. For first-year men the large squad is important, and, contrary to the policy pursued at some institutions, there is no cutting of the squads at Carolina. As much equipment as possible is issued and men are encouraged to come out and remain as long as they show determination and interest.

During the past year the yearling outfits were fairly strong, especially the football, boxing, wrestling, tennis, and golf teams. The Tar Baby football team downed Louisburg, 12-0; State, 9-7; Oak Ridge, 12-7; and Virginia, 38-0, before bowing to the Duke Blue Imps by one touchdown in the final game of the year.

Like the football team, the yearling boxers lost their only meet to the Blue Imps in a close encounter. Tar Babies got victories over Virginia, Oak Ridge, V. M. I. and V. P. I. before the 4½-3½ loss to Duke. Dhiel, Fisher, and Medynski all finished the season with perfect records.

Yearling wrestlers also got four victories out of five starts, downing State, 20-16; V. P. I., 18-16; Duke, 29½-4½; and V. M. I., 16-14. The lone defeat was to W. and L., 18-16. Umstead, Ward, and Bonner all got five victories out of as many starts.

Carolina's freshman golf team turned in six triumphs in eight meets and had a clear claim for the state championship. The linksmen lost an early season meet to the Blue Imps but came back later in the season to get a win over the same club by a wide margin.

The first year netters also took state honors, easily beating all opposition in North Carolina, and turning in an undefeated season.

Boxing

(TIE FOR STATE CHAMPIONSHIP)

JIMMY WILLIAMS AND SAM GIDDENS .....	Co-captains for 1935
CRAYTON ROWE .....	Coach
J. R. LOTHIAN .....	Manager 1935

Paced by the brilliant Normant Quarles, Carolina's 1934 boxing team turned in a fairly good season, winning three, tying one, and losing two matches, but gaining a tie with N. C. State for the Big Five championship. Tar Heels opened with a  $5\frac{1}{2}$ - $2\frac{1}{2}$  victory over V. P. I. and the following week tied the Wolfpack at Raleigh, 4-4. In the following two meets Carolina met with 6-2 defeats at the hands of the Southern Conference champion, Virginia, and the powerful Navy club. Tar Heels then came back with a close  $4\frac{1}{2}$ - $3\frac{1}{2}$  triumph over V. M. I., Marvin Ray getting a knockout in the next to last fight for the deciding margin. Duke was defeated in the closing battle of the season to the tune of 5-3.

Quarles was the only Tar Heel to come through in the Southern Conference tourney at Charlottesville; he took the lightweight title with ease. In dual meets he was again the leading boxer, winning every fight either by a knockout or a forfeit. Williams had five victories in dual encounters, while Ray got four wins, three of them by K.O.'s.

Intra-mural Sports

SCHNELL
Intra-mural
Director

The purpose of intra-mural sports is to provide a means of voluntary exercise and recreation for students who are non-members of intercollegiate teams and squads. In many respects the intra-murals are the most important phase of athletic life at Carolina, as all events are designed to require little or no preparatory training and are, therefore, for students who desire keen competition and invigorating exercise. Awards are made to winning teams or individuals in each event. For the vast majority of you, participation in the intramurals will offer the most stimulating part of your campus life.

Last year basketball, bowling, tag football, and playground baseball loops were conducted, and boxing, wrestling, and tennis leagues, a cross country or cake race, and a track meet were also staged. The department this year will be under the direction of Herman Schnell, who will be assisted by Don Jackson and a large group of officials.

Over half of the student body took part in the intra-mural program last year. The loving cup, given by the Grail Club for the highest scoring team during the year, was won by Ruffin Dormitory, while D. L. Furches, representing Ruffin, received the cup for tallying the most individual points. The leading outfit made 745 points and Sigma Nu of the fraternity group was second in scoring with 488.5 points.

Fraternities at the "Hill" . . .

Fraternities are groups of college men joined together for companionship. For this reason, the fraternity is essentially a social organization, although there are professional fraternities which choose their members solely from a special school of the University, such as the School of Medicine, the School of Law, etc. At Carolina there are twenty-seven national social, and one local social, thirteen professional fraternities, and two sororities. A national fraternity consists of a single chapter at various schools; a local fraternity consists of a single chapter and is active only in the school or college at which it was organized. The majority of fraternities own or rent houses in which the members live and, in some cases, have their meals.

BIDS. Membership in these fraternities is by invitation. Each fraternity extends a bid to those men who are most congenial with its particular group; sociability in general, athletic ability, literary and scholastic attainments, personality, and character are also qualities which fraternities take into consideration. Recommendations by alumni and fraternal connections in the family are instrumental in the pledging of new members.

RUSHING. The rushing at Carolina is controlled by the interfraternity council and its rules must be strictly adhered to. The final rules for 1934 were not available at the time this went to press, so the first thing to do after you get settled here is to obtain a copy of the rushing rules (they will be printed and circulated among you) and read them carefully. There will be a period of silence throughout Freshman Week and the first day of classes during which no freshman is to communicate with any fraternity or its members. It is important that freshmen cooperate with fraternities in this, as the fraternities are held responsible for any violation of rules. After this period of silence, rushing will begin with the issuance of invitations to visit fraternities. All rushing is restricted to the houses and is limited to the hours of two to nine o'clock p. m., except Fridays and Saturdays.

For further instruction consult the printed rules of the Interfraternity council.

PLEDGING. After the second period of silence (which comes at the end of the rushing period) each freshman submits to the Dean of Students his preferences listed in one, two, three order. Each freshman is given a bid from the fraternity of his first choice if he receives one, if not from his second, and so on. No pledge made before this day is binding. Both fraternities and freshmen can be punished for violation of this rule.

INITIATION. Only on condition that he has passed five courses, making at least two "C's" (85), in two quarters may a freshman be initiated. Fraternities must maintain a 3.5 average (between "C" and "D") to be able to initiate their pledges.

HARK THE SOUND (Tune: "Amici")

Hark the sound of Tar Heel voices
 Ringing clear and true
 Singing Carolina's praises,
 Shouting "N. C. U."

I'm a Tar Heel born,
 I'm a Tar Heel bred
 And when I die
 I'm a Tar Heel dead.

CHORUS

Hail to the brightest star of all!
 Clear in its radiance shine!
 Carolina, priceless gem,
 Receive all praises thine.

So its—
 Rah, Rah, Carolina-lina

 Rah, Rah, Carolina!
 Rah, Rah, Rah!

KAY KYSER'S NEW CAROLINA SONGS

TAR HEELS ON HAND

Tar Heels on hand
 To steal the thunder from the sky,
 Then take our stand
 As every man does right by Blue and White.
 We'll give the Tar Heels a hand
 And cheer them on to do or die—
 Yea—all of us are for U. N. C.
 And you can betcha we're proud to be
 The Tar Heels on hand.

II

Tar Heels join hands
 And sing a song for Blue and White,
 Then fill the stands
 With praise, and cheer, and yell—
 and yell like hell!
 Come on you Tar Heels join hands
 With loyal voices shout "Fight on!"
 Here's to the land of the Old
 North State
 Where the weak grow strong and the strong grow great
 When Tar Heels join hands.
